VINTERIO DOORS

Available in any of Eggers' flush door constructions, the Vinterio Door offers unprecedented flexibility. Whether specifying lead-lined, bullet-resistant, acoustical, or mineral core fire-rated doors, the Vinterio Door offers a unique look that is sure to make a statement.

About Vinterio Veneer

Vinterio, a Danzer Group Company, represents a new patented way to slice natural wood veneer. Made from a blend of wood from different trees, Vinterio veneer has a consistent, repeatable look from one sheet to another, offering "consistency through inconsistency." No two sheets are identical, but they all blend together perfectly.

Due to the unique nature of Vinterio veneer, natural wood characteristics, such as pin knots, mineral streaks, or cross-bars will be completely random within the veneer rather than repetitive as with standard veneer.

Available in standard sheet sizes and able to be randomly spliced together to produce veneer of any width, Vinterio eliminates the need for end, sequence, and blueprint matching.

Make a Bold Statement

Vinterio's process produces different effects from different wood species. Some species, such as tulipwood have a bold, stripy look, while others such as cherry have a subtle, blending, linear look. To create a truly custom look, Vinterio offers its Nimbus line, in which the customer can create a Vinterio veneer all their own by combining select species to specified dimensions to create a one-of-a-kind masterpiece.
